

The day I found all my answers!

My whole existence explained!

By Simon.

Written 24th November 2013

Wave after wave of my atoms dancing with joy, tears streaming down my face and a connection uncovered which was so deep, so wonderful I am still extremely emotional several hours after it happened.

Two sentences in a book brought the answers flooding into this body:

"In the early stages of their exit all souls encounter a "wispy cloudiness" around them that soon becomes clear. This is the moment when the average soul sees a ghostly form of energy coming towards them. This figure may be a loving soulmate or two, but more often than not it is our GUIDE."

What I saw on my DMT trip was my guide. Strong, so loving, wise and extremely happy I was there. She told me "It is really important that you are here". The strange timing and coincidences of the path to DMT was a major "key" in this life. I was too impatient with the astral projection I was doing in my late teens and twenties so I needed to stop myself but I needed another way of getting to the same point later in life. This was the only solution.

The Answers to my existence!

The entity in my DMT trip

What I saw cannot ever be drawn because you cannot draw energy and the connections in our way of thinking. The closest thing (but still a million times less beautiful) was this:

On my DMT trip, as all the information and visuals were flashing through my soul, I saw a hand reach down and grab hold of my hand. In that instant every atom of my soul and body exploded in both joy and love. This emotion was so intense and so overpowering it is impossible to ever be able to explain because it is not possible to ever feel positive emotions on this scale on earth. At that time I had no idea who this entity was but I did know I was deeply connected to this being and had been for aeons. Now I know who this was!

She is my guide, my trainer; the one overseeing all my human experiences. Guiding me through all my lives and making sure the lessons and paths I needed to go on were there for me to see.

My guide was a very, very deep purple color with a small trace of dark blue but she lit up and radiated the most divine aura; impossible to ever draw!

My Missing 10 years of Memory

In my very early twenties I was astrally projecting most nights. I witnessed strange things because I could astrally project far outside this planet. As I got braver and braver I tried something new and I found a door. At that point my memory was wiped as well as the methods I used to astrally project and get there. The only thing I had left in my memory was two words; "THE door", but I no longer had any idea what it meant.

When I first discovered the way back my soul immediately realised the colossal mistake the mind-body had made. I was always meant to discover it but it was never meant to be that soon. We (my soul, my trainer and my friends up there) discussed it and we all agreed my soul needed to repair the damage I had done but we had to also discuss how I could still get to that point later in the future. For some reason this all needed to be revealed at a certain point to assist me.

I couldn't simply "forget" that moment because our souls work in partnership with the body; we don't control them. If you know this body you'll know there was NO WAY I was going to let my soul make me forget this so my soul had to go against my bodies wishes and alter some pathways in my brain. My body and mind went into full blown depression because it knew what was happening but it was vitally important and it had to be done. The depression lesson was always going to happen but it came earlier than it should have done because of what I saw.

Had I not done this I could not have got to where I am today. There were still people here who needed my help so I couldn't leave them to it without ruining their own experiences. It was far too early to understand how these lives (and the life between life) worked.

Why I am here

I don't think this life was expected. I have a feeling I rushed in to try again at learning the lesson of beating suicidal thoughts. My Mum had a few miscarriages and then lost her son at the age of one. We all have a path we can follow but there are many branches that our free-will can take. I think the loss of her son was a branch that would not have had a good outcome and I sent myself in to see if I could also help repair the damage. The soul in my mum's son would not have been able to come back so soon but that soul reached out and asked for help. I had to find a way of getting to a woman who couldn't have children so I know there would have been a lot of urgent work to get me where I went. "Lisa" is the soul of that child. She had tried a few times to get to my mum and almost made it as a boy. She has always been strongly connected to me because it is her I am assisting.

I had "keys" that would trigger soul memories. The photo of my mum's dad was the main one, the term "cellar door" triggered another when I first heard it and amethyst crystals were another. I have an "emotional feeling" that the photo of my mum's dad should have been shown to me later in my life because the moment I saw that photo I KNEW something far bigger than me was going on. It was like alarm bells going off in my body the second I saw it for the first time. That one photo set in stone a path that would always then be with me. If you had put the photos of him and me together you would be able to tell us apart but I'm adopted so there is NO WAY this can happen.

Note:

My Mum's dad committed suicide and this current life of mine had a 15 year battle with depression in which it almost won twice. I believe I failed the lesson in my last life and came back almost immediately to do it all over again. This situation would have kept repeating life after life until I had learnt the lesson.

Instead of spending my life slowly working towards this revelation my soul had to make sure I couldn't back there too soon BUT...I also needed a quick way of bypassing that process to get back to that point once the timing was right. The Volcanologist Dr. Simon Day was the "key" to DMT. From the moment I googled my own name a couple of years ago and came across him and his research it triggered a 100% U-turn in my life which led me to that wonderful day in January when I met her and found my real home.

My current phase of life

I am to assist Daniel overcome his weaknesses. I am here to offer him guidance once he reaches the point of being able to ask for it. His past lives and mine have crossed before and I know he feels it very strongly.

My side projects

I am here to bring closure to some as they near the end of their lives. I am wary that each person must ask for it or I cannot give the words/energy they need to enable them to find the answers.

The answer to how I connect to my guide.

At the time of writing (the same day this happened) I have not yet tried but I now know how I can connect back to the source and my guide. I simply focus all my energy on exactly what I saw and I will be drawn back to her and the training room. Energy flows where intent goes...

When is it my head talking or my guide talking

The guide is a whisper in my ear. My brain is normal thoughts.

The Janna Connection

She remembers seeing me in the life between life but I feel the energy instead. I'm not so sure we should be lovers in this life but it is important that I remain available to her as our lives are designed to cross paths.
